Dear Henry,

It was so nice to see you at lunch the other day.
Thank you so much for the book which I'm certainly looking forward to reading, as soon as possible.

Having expressed some dismay at not being able to find your music, I was able to uncover it this afternoon, thank goodness! It was probably hard to find since it was hidden away in an envelope entitled "junk mail"! I'm returning it to you...
I hope not in that form. I hope everything that you lent us for the concert is intact. I have the piano part only to the Spring Sonata it seems and piano part only in terms of the Manuel de FALLA.
I hope this is what you lent us completely.

Not much more to report. Hope I'll see you soon.
It was a delightful lunch as always and I found our talk fascinating. Look forward to seeing you soon.

All the best as always,

Dudley Moore
